Chapter 375: Spreading the Essence of Divinity

Sung Jin-Woo’s evolution had reached unprecedented levels since his ascension to the True Absolute One Domain Realm. His power grew exponentially with each passing moment, threatening to destabilize even the boundless realm he called home. Recognizing the need to balance his overwhelming growth, Sung Jin-Woo made a decision: to share a portion of his godly essence with those he trusted the most—his Eleven Divine Beings.

The Bestowal of Godly Essence

In a grand ceremony held within the vastness of the Absolute Realm, Sung Jin-Woo summoned the Eleven Divine Beings. Ashborn, Sung Su-Ho, and the Nine Divine Dragons stood before him, their forms already awe-inspiring but dwarfed by Sung Jin-Woo’s realm-sized figure. His 60 million wings spread across the skies, casting shadows over countless dimensions.

“You have stood by me as my most loyal companions and protectors of the multiverse. Today, I grant you a portion of my essence, so you may ascend even further and govern with greater strength,” Sung Jin-Woo declared, his voice resonating through every corner of existence.

The Eleven Divine Beings knelt before their creator, their heads bowed in reverence. One by one, Sung Jin-Woo extended his hand, releasing streams of divine energy into their forms. The essence, shimmering with a blend of light and shadows, flowed into their very beings, transforming them at a fundamental level.

The Transformation

The effects of the godly essence were immediate and profound:

1. Ashborn: The former Shadow Monarch, now the Absolute Castle's ruler, saw his wings multiply into 2,000 shimmering black and silver wings. His body expanded into a galactic-sized form, radiating an aura of infinite wisdom and strength.

2. Sung Su-Ho: As the ruler of Eternis Draconis, his dragon-like features became even more pronounced. His wings grew to 1,800 fiery golden wings, and his power as a god of dragons solidified further.

3. The Nine Divine Dragons: Each received a unique transformation:

Sung Ye-Jun: 1,500 crimson and black wings. His fiery energy now rivaled entire stars.

Sung Ye-Rin: 1,400 ethereal silver wings. Her control over the moon's light became unparalleled.

Sung Ha-Young: 1,200 azure wings, brimming with the energy of storms and winds.

Sung Jun-Ho: 1,300 golden wings, embodying the sun's radiance and life-giving warmth.

Sung Hyun-Joo: 1,100 shadowy and iridescent wings, a master of illusions and dimensions.

Sung Ri-Hye: 1,200 silver and lunar wings, a guardian of dreams and mysteries.

Sung Kyun-Rae: 1,100 fiery orange wings, his dominion over volcanic power unrivaled.

Sung Ji-Ae: 1,000 twilight-colored wings, balancing between light and dark.

Sung Da-Hyun: 1,300 tempestuous black and blue wings, a harbinger of storms and chaos.

Each of them expanded into colossal forms the size of galaxies, their divine presence echoing across realms. Their new power caused ripples throughout the multiverse, alerting every being of their ascension.

Compression of Form

Despite their newfound size and power, the Eleven Divine Beings chose to compress their forms, returning to their original sizes of 2-5 meters tall. This allowed them to interact seamlessly with mortals and traverse the multiverse without overwhelming it with their immense presence.

Their wings, though numerous, became ethereal and could appear or disappear at will, ensuring their divinity would not burden those who looked upon them.

The Balance of Power

With their enhanced power, the Eleven Divine Beings now rivaled the might of lesser gods and were fully equipped to govern their respective domains with unmatched authority. Their ascension not only slowed Sung Jin-Woo’s rapid evolution but also strengthened the overall balance of the multiverse.

“Your roles as my divine stewards are more important than ever,” Sung Jin-Woo told them. “The multiverse is vast, and challenges will continue to arise. Use your new strength wisely, for it is a reflection of my trust in you.”

The Eleven Divine Beings pledged their loyalty once more, their voices united as they swore to serve and protect the multiverse under Sung Jin-Woo’s supreme rule.

Thus, the multiverse entered a new era, one where the Eleven Divine Beings, empowered by the True Absolute One, stood as the ultimate guardians of creation.
